DIED AT TUSCON

Death of Mr. C. K. Hoffman Brought Sorrow to the Hearts of Hosts of Friends.

There was deep sorrow among the many friends of Mr. C. K. Hoffman when they learned of his death which occurred at Tucson, Arizona, on Sunday. He had gone there but a week previous in a vain and final effort to find a place where he could regain his health.

Mr. Hoffman, who was 28 years of age, came to Sierra Madre from Los Angeles with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Hoffman, about two years ago in quest of relief from tubercular trouble which had fastened upon him. Here, as everywhere he went, he won a host of friends by his warm-hearted, buoyant disposition and manly character. The grip of his hand drew out one's friendship to him and he was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. A trip to Europe and all that medical skill could do were unavailing in his brave fight and a most promising life was ended when his soul crossed over.

The remains were brought to Los Angeles for interment and funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Hoffman's sister, Mrs. B. J. Badham. Several Sierra Madre people were among the many who paid their respects to his memory. The flowers, unusual for their quantity and beauty, testified to the sorrow felt at the death of one loved by all.

MR. HOUSE WILL SING

Famous Baritone Will Be Heard at Church of the Ascension

A rare opportunity for discriminating music lovers to hear good sacred music will be afforded on Tuesday evening at the Episcopal church, when Mr. Edwin House, a baritone known throughout the middle west, will be the soloist, and Mr. Perry, whose work in Chicago and Los Angeles, as an organist and composer is also well and most favorably known, will be the accompanist. Mr. House will sing Dudley Buck's justly celebrated sacred solo, "Fear Not Ye, Oh Israel," and others of equal rank and beauty. This is one of two concerts planned for the near future and a Sierra Madre audience is fortunate in securing such cultured and talented musicians.

Prof. Lewis Test, teacher of chemistry at Occidental College, was the guest Friday and Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Stanton.

The next social meeting of the Congregational Ladies' Aid society will be held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon next, Madame Mackerras and Mrs. R. H. Mackerras being the hostesses. A cordial invitation is given to strangers to attend.

MONDAY MUSICAL CLUB

Meets at the Home of Mrs. C. H. Baker Where Delightful Program Is Given

The Monday Musical club held its regular session Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Baker, on Highland avenue. The meeting was largely attended and the members and guests were well rewarded by the fine program. Mrs. Albert M. Lyon was the vocal soloist and the program was under the direction of Mrs. Baker. Mrs. Lyon sang (r) "Caprisiosa," by Riggs, and (b) "Orpheus With His Lute," by Sullivan. She responded to an encore with "Clover Blossoms," by Rogers. Miss Noble played on the violin Braza's "Angels' Serenade," and an ancient dance by Gabriel Maria.

Miss Anna B. Climie read an exceedingly interesting paper on "Amateur Choral Singing in America," tracing its growth through the period of Puritan intolerance down to the present time. Much information of interest was given regarding the "Handel and Hayden" society and others of importance in this country.

Mr. Charles Hall Perry addressed the club on the nature of the work to be taken up by the newly formed choral section and the material available for women's voices. The later German composers and many English and Americans have found this a very attractive field and an abundance of music of this class is obtainable.

For the mixed chorus Mr. Perry hopes to take up a serenata composed by Sir Michael Costa, with chorus for women's voices, soli for soprano, contralto and tenor; also a composition in oratorio form written by Wm. Bartholomew on the occasion of the marriage of the present German emperor. This work is deservedly popular among singing societies and is well adapted to use by a chorus of moderate size. This, together with one of the lesser sacred oratorios, such as Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer," should arouse the interest of the music lovers and especially of the singers of Sierra Madre. However, the matter of selecting suitable work will depend on the conditions which develop at the meeting next Monday evening at Mrs. Baker's home for the purpose of organizing the chorus.

George Purvis, of sand bag fame in Sierra Madre but now proprietor of the White City nursery of all that is rotten at Arcadia, was refused naturalization papers in the superior court yesterday. Purvis narrowly escaped conviction on a perjury charge on account of some of the answers to questions concerning his previous record. There was strong indication of a past criminal record and the court decided that if Purvis became a citizen he would be an "undesirable citizen," and acted accordingly.

PUBLIC LIBRARY RECEPTION

Library Trustees Arrange Informal Gathering for Next Thursday Evening

In order that the residents of Sierra Madre may have an opportunity to become better acquainted with the library and its work the members of the Library Association have arranged to hold an informal reception at the library on Thursday evening, Nov. 12. A musical program will be given and refreshments will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend, especially to new residents and visitors in the city.

Better knowledge of the workings of the library, of its equipment and its needs, would do much to stimulate interest on the part of local citizens. The library is already doing an excellent work and with increased patronage and a little more liberal support the work could be greatly increased in value. It is to be hoped that the gathering of next Thursday evening may be largely attended.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET

The first meeting of the stockholders of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club House Association was held at the home of Mrs. George H. Letteau last Friday afternoon when the articles and by-laws were read and approved. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and much pleasurable interest was taken in examining the newly prepared plans for the club house. After adjournment the board of directors, comprising the following officers, met: president, Mrs. George H. Letteau; vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Jones; secretary, Mrs. W. S. Andrews; treasurer, Mrs. Frederick R. Yerxa. The other members of the board are Mrs. Wm. J. Lawless, Mrs. Charles E. Bentham and Mrs. E. W. Camp.

Southern California is said to be entertaining a host of grafters working the old game of selling cheap window glass for spectacles, peddling their wares from house to house. Some of the men are reported to possess criminal records and work the spectacle gag merely to gain admittance to dwelling houses and are on the lookout for chances to "make a haul." People who know no better than to patronize these fakirs instead of responsible licensed oculists almost deserve to be humbugged. But it is not well to give them a chance to pick up anything besides their accustomed rake-off.

The cement gang has been placing retaining curbs around the oak trees on west Central avenue this week, thereby improving the appearance of the street and affording much needed protection to the trees as well as making the obstruction less dangerous. Protected by "reason" and nurtured by "sentiment" the trees should now flourish and be a joy to all beholders.

IT'S A GAY LIFE

Page and His Wife Mix Wine and Gasoline, to the Undoing of Taylor.

The following yarn clipped from the San Francisco Call tells a story which will not greatly surprise Sierra Madre people and needs no comment:

James F. Taylor, a son of a wealthy wholesale druggist of Chicago and a guest for a day at the St. Francis hotel, spent yesterday in the city prison, charged with defrauding an automobile company.

His troubles were aggravated by the fact that he had been drinking, and while shooting money at sparkling wine in the tenderloin he borrowed $100 from Schiff Brothers on a draft that was later repudiated by the woman who had given it to him.

Young Taylor, who went recently to Sierra Madre to engage in farming, dates his troubles of yesterday back to an acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Page a week or so ago. Page, who looks and talks like a millionaire, disposed of a general merchandise store in Sierra Madre recently and on the proceeds of the transaction started with his wife on a life of leisure. He purchased an automobile in Los Angeles and embarked for San Francisco.

At Sierra Madre the machine met with an accident. It was there that young Taylor also met the Pages—purely by accident. Page wanted some one to assist him in piloting his machine to San Francisco, and Taylor was just drunk enough to undertake the job. Five miles north of Sierra Madre Taylor jammed the automobile into a tree, and the trio decided to make San Francisco by train. They arrived here Wednesday, registered at the Grand hotel and proceeded to see the town. Thursday Taylor and Page were listing badly in the heavy seas of wine that crossed the bar at the Grand hotel. The following day, Friday, Page had cut out the drinking fest and Taylor had taken to automobiling.

Claims Loss of $3,000

Meanwhile Page had created a stir at the Grand hotel by announcing that he had been robbed of $3,000, but after the hotel employees and the city detectives had worked several hours on the case Mrs. Page remembered that she had the money hidden away in her trunk.

Taylor by that time had run up an automobile bill of $85 and couldn't pay it. The chauffeur was anxious. So was the manager of the Grand. Taylor and the Pages concluded to move to the St. Francis. They moved Friday afternoon, after Page had been sent to the Hammam baths to ooze out the wine that had poisoned his system. That night Taylor visited Schiff Brothers' cafe and opened 18 bottles of wine. He ran short of cash and presented to Ben

Too Many Broken Lights.

Charlie Morrison says the boys have been breaking the globes of street lights rather frequently of late and that the Edison Electric management have determined to put a stop to it. We need all the light we can get from the lights we have and can hardly spare a light here and there just to afford some young rock thrower the fun of hearing the globes pop. Charlie says the company gives the boys fair warning that any further breaking of the globes will cause trouble for somebody, and not all of it will be for the "trouble man."

Has Been a Good Year.

Martin Olsen, the shoe man, says the present year has been the best in the twenty he has been in business in Sierra Madre. His sales during each month to date have surpassed those of the corresponding month of last year and there is no doubt in his mind that with Taft for president, business will continue to improve.

Steinberger's Gas Plant.

L. E. Steinberger, one of Sierra Madre's most loyal democrats, perpetrated one of the best campaign jokes of the year at the special meeting of the city fathers Thursday evening of last week. It was so good it will bear relating even after the election, the result of which merely adds to the humor of it. The trustees were knee-deep in the health ordinance when Mr. Steinberger walked into the city hall with a long roll of paper under his arm.

"What have you got there, Gene?" queried Trustee Hosmer.

"A gas plant I want to sell you," was the sober reply.

Now the trustees have been examining plans and specifications of various brands of gas plants presented by various engineers and builders, and here seemed an opportunity for further light on the subject.

"Bring it around here and let's see it," was the simultaneous request of several, so the big roll was carefully placed on the long table and spread out before the curious city dads. Smiling up into their faces they saw a likeness of the Boy Orator of the Platte, on a big window poster.

By Sad Experience.

A five-year-old lad whom we will call Freddy, chiefly because that is not his name, carries milk every night to several neighbors. At one place there is a kitten which he greatly admires. In fact he thinks his nightly trip is a failure unless he has a little romp with the kitten. The other evening when he entered the kitchen at the house where the kitten makes its home he noticed a small stick lying on a chair.

"What is this switch for?" was his instant query put to the lady of the house. "Do you whip the kitty with it?" "Why, do you know what switches are for?" was the reply.

was the reply cmfwyp w c cmfwym "You bet I know what they are for. But you don't have any little boys at your house, so I thought the switch must be for the kitty." Could Sherlock Holmes have drawn a more logical conclusion than this tad?

Miss Gertrude Cook spent Saturday with her friend, Miss May Flint of Los Angeles. On Saturday evening Miss Cook attended a Halloween function at the home of Miss Ella McDonald in Pasadena. The party was in the nature of a re-union of former Pasadena high school students and was most enjoyable for the guests.

At the next meeting of the Woman's Club, which occurs next Monday, Miss Kavanaugh, of Los Angeles, who is a most delightful entertainer, will give "Stories from Real Life." Miss Kavanaugh is a dramatic reader of considerable note in Los Angeles and a pleasant afternoon is held in anticipation by those who may be able to hear her.

The monthly card party, given by the Ways and Means committee under the auspices of the Woman's Club will be held Friday evening, November 6, at the town hall. No, we didn't "told you so"—but we thought so all the time.

By the way, have you read the new health ordinance yet?

Most of the working men apparently thought it was a case of voting for their jobs.

If the truth were known, probably more people are tickled over the result than would willingly admit it.

Politics aside, how would you like to be the city marshal? Just sit down and figure out your own course of action in some of the situations the city marshal finds himself facing, and then be honest in your criticism.

The curfew ordinance passed at the adjourned meeting of the city trustees Thursday evening of last week is published in another column. As may be seen therein, the home-going hour for all persons under sixteen years of age is nine o'clock. The ordinance should have a wholesome effect on some of the more precocious of the rising generation.

It is unfortunate that the idea has been promulgated both here and elsewhere that this city possesses a large rowdy element among the younger generation. It is also unfortunate that the idea has been spread abroad that the city's peace officers are a joke. Just why a man who speaks with a brogue and tries to do his duty should be the object of the invective of people old enough to know better and of the deviltry of others whose actions rather than their size indicate exceeding juvenility is a hard riddle. But 'twas ever so and the lot of the city marshal in the average small town is anything but pleasant.

Nobody has cited anything to prove that Marshal Lehmer has tried to do more than his duty and the idea that the city trustees will not uphold him is a poor guess. A little more charity in forming judgments will tend greatly to reduce the friction and make things more pleasant for all concerned.

Nobody that the editor knows of wishes to take away any legitimate pleasure from the younger generation. But the city authorities declare the line will be drawn firmly on the subject of rowdyism.

A smoke may feel as smooth as an eel,

And appear to be just grand.

But you never can tell just how it will smell

By looking at the band.

NEW BOOKS RECEIVED

Among the new books received recently at the Public Library are the following, some of which have been exceedingly popular elsewhere and all of which are worth reading:

"The Way of a Man," Emerson Hough.

"The Cave Man," John Corbin.

"Story of the Outlaws," Emerson Hough.

"The Lone Star," Eugene Lyle.

"The Broken Lance," Herbert Quick.

Much Smoke - Little Fire.

Hallowe'en passed without serious damage being done to anything in Sierra Madre but the feelings of a few over-sensitive people. Some miscreant spattered ink on the front of Hathaway's store and a few outbuildings were overturned. But there was nothing bloody about the celebration. What would have happened had not Marshal Lehmer and his deputies been on guard will be a subject of never ending argument.

A few dozen people, big and little, who failed to go home when ordered to do so were called before Recorder Madden Monday afternoon. But there no evidence on which to convict them of anything. So after a lecture from His Honor and an injunction that everything that was disturbed must be righted to avoid further work on the case, they were dismissed.

Hill and Russell, two members of the grading crew who failed to answer the summons, were brought up Wednesday night on a charge of disturbing the peace. After swearing that they went home quietly and promptly when ordered to do so they began to call witnesses to prove it. In trying to corroborate the statement their witness swore that they kept on walking about town, quietly, of course, till nearly midnight, or about three hours later than the defendants had stated. The evidence was somewhat conflicting on other points and Judge Madden disappointed the crowd of excitement seekers who were present by taking the case under advisement.

Choral Evensong will be sung at 5 p.m. Sunday at the Church of the Ascension instead of the usual evening service. This arrangement will be continued till further notice. On Sunday, Nov. 15, Mr. W. E. Bechtelheimer will sing as a solo "Hear My Prayer," composed by Mrs. L. E. Lyon of Auburn avenue, which will be heard with interest.

FORMER PREMIER DEAD

The press dispatches of last week contained the following notice of the death of Hon. Thomas Greenway, father-in-law of Mrs. E. T. Greenway of Crystal City, Manitoba, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Wright of Sierra Madre:

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Oct. 30.—Hon. Thomas Greenway, former premier of Manitoba, and a member of the railway commission of Canada, died unexpectedly in Ottawa today. He was at the head of the provincial government which broke the Canadian Pacific railway monopoly in Western Canada and brought the Northern Pacific into Manitoba 20 years ago, the first rival railway to the Canadian Pacific to enter this country.

TWICE A YEAR IN CALIFORNIA

The old spring fever's back, it seems.

The catalog now waits—

A hundred pages packed with dreams
And fourteen colored plates.

It tells of everything to sow
And everything to plant;
Just why these special seeds will grow
And why those others can't.

The latest Burbank miracle
Is pictured for our eyes,
While language almost lyrical
Describing its weight and size.

Bulbs, vines and bushes all are here,
And fertilizers light;
The diagrams are wondrous clear
For planting gardens right.

But one thing is left out; and why
I do not understand.
The pages don't explain how I
Can get sufficient land.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hoffman returned

Recorded Madden last evening dismissed the case of Hill and Russel, the members of the grading crew charged with disturbing the peace. He gave them a strong talk, telling them that while there did not seem to be sufficient evidence on which to convict them they had escaped by a hair's breadth and would be wise to be exceedingly careful how they behaved in future.
Marshal Lehmer is in no mood for trifling and it is likely the first person attempting to "get gay" will find himself in deep trouble.

Sierra Madre gave the usual Republicans majority Tuesday with 134 votes for the Taft electors, to 32 for Bryan.
Three socialist and nine prohibition ballots were also cast. For the rest of the ticket the vote was about the same except for the fact that McLachlan ran behind the ticket while Jud Rush seemed to get the votes lost by Mac. The result was as good as could be expected from the republican standpoint in view of the fact that Uncle Henry Hosmer wore a Bryan button all day. But of course he didn't know it.

Schiff a draft on the Crocker National Bank that had been given him by Mrs. Page. An hour after his departure from the cafe Mrs. Page telephoned to Schiff Brothers not to honor the draft. It was too late. Taylor had got his money and departed. Naturally Ben Schiff got busy with Detective Bailey, but before they could land Taylor, Otis Parkhill, to whom Taylor was indebted for his automobile, heard of Schiff's experience and caused Taylor's arrest.

About noon yesterday Page, still groggy from the effects of his spree, showed up at the St. Francis, just about the time that Taylor, in an automobile, was on his way to the Grand hotel to have a drink with Manager Wilson. When the latter encountered Taylor he promptly put him to bed in his own hotel, and it was while soundly sleeping there that Detective Bailey placed Taylor under arrest.

After spending seven hours in jail Page was persuaded to go to his young acquaintance's rescue, and with the financial assistance of Ben Schiff he bailed out Taylor, taking the latter's note for the $100 advanced for bail and securing Schiff for the money borrowed by writing on the back of the draft that Schiff had received from Taylor an order to the Crocker National Bank to honor it Monday.

Taylor, of course, is sore. He couldn't understand why Mrs. Page had repudiated the draft or why Page had let him lie in jail all day. The Pages and Taylors have adjoining rooms at the St. Francis, but today Taylor will sever his connections with the Pages and seek apartments in some other hotel.

HALLOWE'EN EVENTS

Enjoyable Affairs Appropriate To The Season.

The Hallowe'en season was fitly observed in Sierra Madre, several affairs appropriate to the occasion being given. Of the entire number none was prettier than that given by Miss Dorothy Camp on Saturday evening. It is certain that nowhere else was more royal hospitality shown the guests or keener enjoyment felt than by Miss Dorothy's young guests. The decorations were appropriate to the season and the games were of the old-fashioned Hallowe'en variety.

At the Congregational church on Friday evening the social committee of the Christian Endeavor society provided an evening of novel entertainment for members and friends. More or less spooky looking Jack o' lanterns furnished light and an air of mystery was maintained throughout the evening as to just what was to come next. Refreshments were served and the entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by young and old.

One of the most delightful of the many Hallowe'en parties given in local society was that of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall Perry of Grand View avenue on Saturday evening. The rooms were charmingly decorated with chrysanthemums, and to lend the true Hallowe'en atmosphere other decorations were pumpkins, silhouettes of ghosts and witches.

Progressive whist was played. The ladies' prize, a box of bon-bons, going to Mrs. Irving N. Ward, and the gen-
